

Washington Whispers.®

A top aide offers this reason why the President sticks by criticized officials such as Energy Secretary Schlesinger, Treasury Secretary Blumenthal and CIA Chief Turner: "Carter is fascinated by bright, sometimes arrogant people who think things through rationally even if in a political vacuum. They don't get along with others at the White House, but the President feels at home with them."